2017 Reading Challenge:
Around the world in 30 Books

Name: ___________________________________  e-mail or phone __________________________

Turn in this form by December 31, 2017 with all categories completed in order to be entered in the drawing.
The books do not have to be read in any particular order. A single book can only be used for one category, not multiple categories. The goal is to read books set in, about, or written by an author from countries around the world. We’ve broken them into continents for you. *For some continents, you may choose one alternative country.
This challenge is meant for adults and teens. Our children’s department is also offering a challenge. If you need help finding suitable books, please ask a library staff member.

By participating in this challenge, you agree to appear in print and web publicity. You’ll also need a valid NBPL card to participate. Happy reading!
